EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION IN OHIO – Three different Ohio-based organizations released reports this week addressing early childhood education and its importance to the state moving forward. The Ohio Business Roundtable released "What Difference Are We Making?" which assessed the state of early learning in Ohio. Among its recommendations were to fast-track significant state investment to take proven programs to scale, pursue quality programs, and strengthen leadership to sustain effective cross-agency decision making. The Health Policy Institute of Ohio released a brief, "The Importance of Early Learning," which included policy options to enhance early learning in the state, such as: increasing the number of children served by high-quality child care, preschool, and pre-K; encouraging community-based partnerships; supporting ongoing training and technical assistance; and more. Groundwork Ohio, a nonprofit, nonpartisan advocacy organization committed to advancing quality early care and education, released its "Ohio Early Childhood Education Gubernatorial Reference Manual." The manual is intended to serve as a resource for Ohio gubernatorial candidates providing a collection of high-level research and news media that tells a story supporting a case for increased investment in early childhood education.

Report: More Investment Needed in Early Childhood Education – Hannah

Personalized Learning Frameworks

Personalized Learning Gains Momentum in Massachusetts – THE Journal

- Now the state is leading the way in personalized education. Less than a year after a new public-private consortium launched to "identify, analyze and promote" personalized learning practices, the group has published an analysis of its early results as a baseline for future assessments

Extended Learning Opportunities

Making Summer Last: Integrating Summer Programming into Core District Priorities and Operations – Wallace Foundation/RAND Corporation

- The publication examines how three districts—Dallas, Pittsburgh and Rochester—worked to institutionalize summer programming, meaning, among other things, an expectation of continuation, routinized implementation, and routine allocation of money and time. Despite challenges, the program leaders say their efforts have helped garner buy-in for their programs, resulting in improvements and efficiencies

STEM/STEAM

Policymakers, Education Organizations Increase Focus on STEM Graduates in the Workforce – Education DIVE

- Increasingly, more higher education institutions, policymakers, and education advocacy groups are investing resources in advancing the numbers of STEM graduates in the workforce, even despite a trend of dwindling public funding for education overall — recognizing a gap that needs to be filled and that can help the local economy. This comes as more leaders in the industry realize that STEM courses, combined with liberal arts background, are needed to actually give students the skills and experiences they need to do well in the workforce — with District Administration reporting most traditional "trade" paths actually require these courses in post-secondary education

FEATURED ITEMS

FEDS WITHDRAW REGULATORY GUIDANCE – As part of an effort across the Trump administration to reduce the federal regulatory burden, the U.S. Department of Education (USDOE) withdrew nearly 600 pieces of subregulatory guidance on its books. Guidance rescinded included documents addressing topics such as the now-defunct School Improvement Program, flexibility from the now-replaced No Child Left Behind Act, using Title I funds for schoolwide purposes, and other matters dating from 1996 to 2015. However, the USDOE did not rescind any Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) guidance related to evidence-based interventions for low-performing schools, Title IV Student Support and Academic Enrichment grants guidance, or documents previously released from its office for civil rights.

ESSA State Accountability Tracker – Achieve

- This tracking tool summarizes the components of states' accountability systems submitted to the U.S. Department of Education in their plans under the Every Student Succeeds Act

Do State ESSA Plans Have Strong Connection to Higher Education? – EdWeek

- We've written a lot about states' long term goals in their plans for the Every Student Succeeds Act. Some of those goals deal with students' successful transition from K-12 schools to higher education. But the extent to which states are aligning those two systems varies, at least as far as their ESSA plans go

A Simple Solution for Solving Teacher Shortages: Pay Incentives for Hard-to-Find Teachers – Chalkbeat

- Policymakers across the country have fretted about a new wave of potential teacher shortages, particularly in certain subjects and schools. Now a new study offers a straightforward solution: give bonuses or provide loan forgiveness to teachers in positions that are hard to staff

Education Inequalities at the School Starting Gate – Economic Policy Institute

- Extensive research has conclusively demonstrated that children's social class is one of the most significant predictors—if not the single most significant predictor—of their educational success. Moreover, it is increasingly apparent that performance gaps by social class take root in the earliest years of children's lives and fail to narrow in the years that follow. That is, children who start behind stay behind—they are rarely able to make up the lost ground

The Crisis Facing America's Preschool Teachers – The Atlantic

- Efforts to fill centers with better qualified early-childhood workers are threatening the jobs of those who can't afford to get their college degree, and some states are turning to apprenticeships to solve both problems at once

Dear Workgroup Members:

We look forward to seeing everyone tomorrow for our meeting. As promised, here are the materials to help guide our discussion.

- Meeting Agenda
- Notes from 10/23 Meeting: Please review these notes carefully to understand the results of our excise that gauged your perceptions on where we stand on implementing the six priorities, and the "enablers" and "constraints" we identified for at least two priorities. As noted in the agenda, we will continue this discussion tomorrow.
- Slide Deck: Includes draft profile of a graduate (as discussed by the Plan Development Oversight Team) and draft goals (as discussed by the Steering Committee)

Again, the phone number for tomorrow is 614-495-8619. As always, backpacks are not permitted in the building. Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions or concerns.

Thanks,

Samantha

Strategic Plan for Education

Working VISION STATEMENT for Ohio's Strategic Plan for Education: All Ohio students have the foundational knowledge and skills to become life-long learners who are prepared for their chosen path or career and are engaged, culturally-aware and contributing members of society.

High School Success & Postsecondary Connections—October 23 Meeting Summary and Notes

Six emerging priorities: The group reviewed and discussed its six emerging priorities.

1. Reduce the CTE stigma through marketing and communications—reframe, rebrand, market college as career, high school as 9-14 and review the meaning of the high school diploma.
2. Expand career exploration—career exposure and work-based learning continuum that begins in 7th grade.
3. Engage and educate parents—help parents better understand CTE, CCP and career pathways—and provide opportunities to rebrand CTE and expose parents to the opportunity.
4. Employability and transferable skills—Industry, secondary and postsecondary agree upon skills and foster learning and work environments to develop identified employability skills.
5. Employer engagement—identify what employers really want; employers see themselves as participants, not consumers of education.
6. Redefine graduation requirements—explore opportunities beyond testing (competencies, etc.).

Gauging implementation of the priorities: The group considered where it thought each of the six emerging priorities stand on a continuum of implementation: Initiating, developing and demonstrating. Findings from the exercise follow.

Initiating	Developing	Demonstrating
6 votes—Engage & educate parents 5 votes—Redefine grad requirements 4 votes—Reduce CTE stigma 2 votes—Expand career exploration 1 vote—Employer engagement 1 vote—Employability & transferable skills	9 votes—Employer engagement 6 votes—Expand career exploration 5 votes—Employability & transferable skills 3 votes—Redefine grad requirements 2 votes—Engage & educate parents 2 votes—Reduce CTE stigma	2 votes—Reduce CTE stigma

Enablers and Constraints: After the group gauged implementation of the priorities, it discussed and identified the “enablers” and “constraints” associated with the priorities. The group had enough time to address 1) Reducing the CTE stigma and 2) Employability and transfer skills.

1. Reducing the CTE stigma:

- a. Enablers—
 - i. Benefits of CTE are better understood now – at least more than before
 - ii. Teachers and staff are aware of the stigma and use counseling opportunities to dispel the stigma
- b. Constraints—
 - i. The structure of the system itself: compact, comprehensive, JVS, etc.

2. Employability & transferable skills:

- a. Enablers—
 - i. Simultaneous credit and flex credit
 - ii. Career connections
 - iii. Success plan
 - iv. Pockets of excellence across the state
 - v. Employers are a part of the design
- b. Constraints—
 - i. Not happening widespread
 - ii. No clear understanding of how this is happening across the state

The group defined high school learning opportunities that occur in grades 9-14 and can include training opportunities, apprenticeships, earning a credential of value in the market place, AP, IB, and the earning of college credit.

OHIO GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS – The State Board of Education's Achievement and Graduation Requirements Committee met this week and discussed graduation prospects and requirements for the classes of 2018 and 2019. As part of the discussion, Ohio Department of Education (ODE) staff released a concept paper highlighting three potential graduation requirement options for the class of 2019. The options included were: 1) stick with the original three options as originally configured; 2) create an additional permanent option that is a demonstration-based pathway; and 3) infuse additional demonstrations of learning as substitutes in the state standardized assessment-based pathway. The additional graduation pathways for the class of 2018 passed as part of House Bill 49, do not currently apply to future classes.
